Prior Event Report - San Antonio Missions & Hill Country Drive, October 29 & 30, 2016

Getting the caravan ready.

Sixteen members in 8 cars toured the chain of missions established along the San Antonio River in the 18th century. These missions are a reminder of Spain's attempts to extend its influence north of New Spain (now Mexico).

On Saturday, we began our trip from Fort Worth to San Antonio. We stopped for lunch with a lakeside view at the River City Grill in Marble Falls on our way south. Arriving San Antonio, our first stop was Mission Espada, which is the southernmost mission. After the Espada stop, we visited the still-functioning Espada Aqueduct, built in the 1750s, which helped supply water to farms and ranches that sustained the Indians who chose Spanish protection in exchange for labor, conversion to Christianity and a different way of life. We worked our way north, visiting Missions San Juan, San Jose and Concepcion, each stark and beautiful in its own way, but each a common remnant of Spain's efforts to extend its Empire and Christianity.

Hill Country drive.

After the Mission Tour, we checked in at the historic Emily Morgan Hotel, right beside Alamo Plaza, then had dinner at the Market on Houston, a restaurant on the busy streets of downtown San Antonio. After dinner, we enjoyed the bustle of the Riverwalk on a Saturday night. Some of us stopped for drinks at the nearest bar which could seat us.

On Sunday, we visited the last mission, The Alamo, on our own. It is preserved not as a Catholic mission, but as a shrine to Texas liberty. We then took to our cars at the designated time and place, and began our dippy, twisty Hill Country Drive. We stopped for a break at the quaint little town of Wimberley for some window shopping, then continued our drive. Lunch was at the famous Salt Lick Barbecue in Driftwood. After lunch, we continued our Hill Country road trip, our Mercedes cars at home on the twisties. We said our goodbyes at a Starbucks stop in Marble Falls then made our way home.

Prior Event Report - Holiday Celebration at the Colonial Country Club, Fort Worth, TX, December 3, 2016

Larry Vaughn gives a warm welcome address.

Fort Worth Section's 2016 Holiday Dinner-Dance was held at Fort Worth's famous Colonial Country Club. Guests were welcomed with an hors d'oeuvres reception, giving everyone a chance to catch up and get to know new folks.

We sat down to a nice 3-course dinner, which featured a Duet of Filet Mignon and Sea Bass as the main course. After dinner, we declared Fred and Peggy Hekking Members of the Year, for their contributions to the club and their continuous participation. We also took the opportunity to honor our President, Larry Vaughn, for twelve years of exemplary service. Larry will not be rejoining the section's leadership team in 2017 so that he can spend more time with his growing grandchildren.

After acknowledging the contributions of these special people, it was time to play the Christmas Tree Snowball Toss, which involved earning points by tossing a Velcro "snowball" so it would stick to strategic places on a felt Christmas Tree. Teams were formed whose members each took a toss. The three teams with the most points won prizes for each team member. The proud winners were:

1st Place: Team E - Glenn Nolasco, Linda Dooley, Mike Armstrong, Lois Parrott, and Ernest Borroel. Each member won a Fort Worth Section lawn chair.

2nd Place: Team J - Peggy Hekking, Mike Dougherty, Judi Patz, Dianna Radspinner and Bruce Parrott. Each member won a "Big Larry" work light.

3rd Place: Team H - Paul Deeley, Nipat Attavit, Nicky Branville, Fred Hekking and Lynda Reier. Each member won a classic Mercedes-Benz "Customer Service" wall thermometer.

The rest of the evening was spent on the dance floor to the beat of music selections played by our DJs, Wen & Lily Grijo. Special thanks to Kris Ikejiri, whose photos captured the spirit of this event.

Prior Event Report - Winter Getaway to Greystone Castle & W. K. Gordon Museum, Mingus, TX, January 7, 2017

Twenty-five members in fourteen cars attended our first event of the year, despite cold weather and snow the previous evening. We enjoyed a very nice drive on scenic, twisty and hilly roads.

The Greystone Castle is a unique structure, turrets and all, located on 6500 acres of ranchland and hunting grounds. It sits on a hill and offers a majestic view of the surrounding area. Many of us climbed the stairs to the turrets and walls and enjoyed the scenery below. We had a delicious lunch at the castle's main dining room, which we had all to ourselves.

Lunch in the main dining room.

After lunch, we visited the W. K. Gordon Center's small but very interesting museum on the history of Thurber, which was an industrial town wholly owned by The Texas and Pacific Coal Company. Now a ghost town, Thurber was a major brick and coal center in its heyday, attracting a population of 10,000 from eighteen nationalities. After the museum visit, some of us went to a nearby park to see original Thurber buildings which are being preserved there.
